

OBITUARY

John Bartron.

Stricken suddenly from heart failure John Bartron died almost instantly last Saturday morning at his home on Sharp street. The fatal attack occurred as he was entering the house from a short walk in the garden. He had been in failing health for several months, however his death came unexpectedly and with great shock to his family and friends. Had Mr. Bartron lived until the next day after his death he would have celebrated his seventy-seventh birthday.

A large majority of his business life was spent in the employ of the Lackawanna Railroad Company, upon whose records he was an honored pensioner. His marriage was to Miss Rachel Burdge, who survives him with these children: James of Netcong, and Mrs. Anna Pursell and William Bartron at home.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the house, with Rev. Mr. Neff, pastor of Trinity M. E. Church, officiating. Burial followed in Union Cemetery.
