

OBITUARY

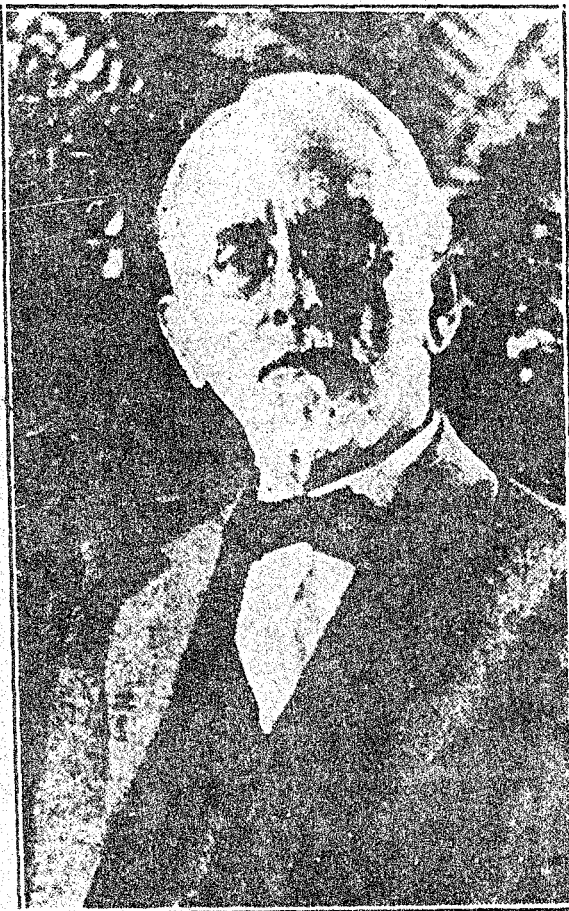

Jacob D. Flock Will Be Buried This Afternoon

Well-Known Merchant Mourned by Many—Died Wednesday in His 89th Year

Jacob Divers Flock passed away at his Church street home Wednesday morning after an illness lasting several weeks.

Mr. Flock had celebrated his eighty-eighth birthday on August 25 and Mr. and Mrs. Flock would have celebrated their sixty-sixth wedding anniversary within a short time.

Mr. Flock was the oldest merchant in Hackettstown, having opened his first store at 153 Main street on April 14, 1874.

Jacob D. Flock

Eight years later he erected the building now known as the Hoover building at 160 Main street, and moved between the closing hour and opened in the new building on time the next day. He remained in this location for thirty years.

He then incorporated and erected the building at 156 Main street, known as the Flock building.

The Hackettstown Gazette: September 27, 1935

NAME: Jacob Divers Flock

DATE OF DEATH: September 25, 1935

over