

Leopolds Grinvalds

Leopolds Grinvalds, 69, of Hackettstown, died Saturday at Nyack (N.Y.) Hospital as the result of a boating accident.

He retired in April after 17 years as an automotive engineer with VolksWagen Porsche in Englewood Cliffs, N.J.

Born July 10, 1922, in Riga, Latvia, he was a son of the late Janis and Valija Friedenbergs Grinvalds. He resided most of his life in Hackettstown.

He was a member of the Latvian Legion, serving during World War II.

Surviving are his wife, the former Longina Jermolovics; two sons, John of Chestnut Ridge, N.Y., and Maris of Syracuse, N.Y.; a daughter, Lula Hackenburg of Hackettstown; and a grandchild.

Private services will be held under the direction of the Scala Memorial Home in Hackettstown. Interment will be in Hackettstown Union Cemetery.

Leopolds Grinvalds

Private services were held for Leopolds Grinvalds, 69, of Hackettstown, who died Oct. 19 at Nyack Hospital, Nyack, N.Y., as a result of injuries suffered in a boating accident.

He was born in Latvia and lived in Hackettstown most of his life.

He was an automotive engineer with Volkswagen Porsche in Englewood Cliffs, until he retired in April.

During World War II, he was a member of the Latvian Legion.

He is survived by his wife, the former Longina Jermolovics; two sons, John of Chestnut Ridge, N.Y., and Maris of Syracuse, N.Y.; one daughter, Lula Hackenburg of Hackettstown; and one grandchild.

Interment was in Union Cemetery, Hackettstown. The Scala Memorial Home of Hackettstown was in charge of arrangements.

The Easton Express: October 21, 1991

The Star-Gazette: October 24, 1991

NAME: Leopolds Grinvalds

DATE OF DEATH: October 19, 1991