

High St.

Dorothy P. Jones

WASHINGTON TWP. (MORRIS)

— Dorothy P. Jones, 92, died Wednesday at Hackettstown Community Hospital after a brief illness.

She was born in Goshen, N.Y., and lived in East Orange and Orange before moving to Heath Village in Washington Township in 1970. She also owned a winter residence in Clearwater, Fla.

Mrs. Jones, at one time, was a school teacher at the Mary Wheeler School in Providence, R.I.

She was a 1917 graduate of Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass.

A member of the First Presbyterian Church, Hackettstown; and the Orange Presbyterian Church, Orange; she also belonged to the Mount Holyoke Club of Northern New Jersey, and the East Orange Garden Club.

Mrs. Jones was a direct descendant of passengers on the Mayflower.

Surviving are several nephews and nieces.

Her husband, William A. Jr., died in 1957.

Arrangements are by Cochran Funeral Home, 905 High St., Hackettstown.

Daily Record
January 30, 1987

OBITUARY

Dorothy P. Jones
Date of Death
January 27, 1987

Cat. No. 141464