

MISS LAURA H. MACK

Services were held Monday afternoon at the Cochran Funeral Home for Miss Laura H. Mack, 78, a retired teacher of the Hackettstown Elementary School who died suddenly at her home, 505 Pine Street, Hackettstown, on Saturday, March 2, 1967.

Born here December 31, 1888, she was a daughter of the late John F. and Mary J. Hildebrant Mack. She was valedictorian of her class at Hackettstown High School and attended Trenton Normal School for two years to prepare for her teaching career, which included four years at Belvidere and six at Netcong. She began teaching in Hackettstown in 1918 and retired in 1943 as a fifth grade teacher.

Miss Mack was a member of Trinity Methodist Church, the Florence Nightingale Society, Peggy Warne Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, the New Jersey Audubon Society and the Warren County Historical Society.

She leaves three cousins, Mrs. Arlie Marks of Washington, Walter Cooke of Blairstown and Mrs. William Kramer of Bethlehem, Pa.

Her pastor, the Rev. John B. Griffith conducted the services. Burial was in Hackettstown Union Cemetery.
