of Mansfield township, near Stephensburg died on Sunday morning last, at six o'clock. He was 69 years 1 month and 4 days old, and had been a confirmed consumptive for many years. Mr. Martin was born and had lived in Mansfield township all his life, and on the same farm for over 40 years. For years Mr. Martin has been in feeble health and on more than one occasion has been supposed to be on his death-bed, but has rallied sufficiently to make his daily jaunts to this town, in his old "one-horse chaise." He was a member of the Presbyterian church. He leaves a widow and one daughter, the wife of Morris T. Labar. His estate is said to be worth between $50,000 and $60,000.
