

OBITUARY

Death of Jacob C McCracken.

Jacob C. McCracken, aged 54 years, 10 months and 22 days, died last Saturday after a few days illness from pneumonia at his home in Philadelphia. He was the son of the late William McCracken. He was a carpenter by occupation. Most of his life was spent in this place. About thirteen years ago he moved to Dover and was employed in the car shops. From there he moved to Philadelphia. He is survived by three daughters and one son by his first wife, and one child by his second wife, also the following brothers and sisters: George of Dover; Mrs. T. S. Robbins, of Hoboken; Mrs. H. D. Gurnsey, of New York; Alpheus, of Camden; Joseph H.; R. S.; Lewis C., and Mrs. J. D. Klotz, of this place. The remains were brought here Monday afternoon. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon, Rev. J. G. Johnston, pastor of the M. E. Church, officiating. Interment in Union Cemetery.

(Date of birth March 26, 1850)

The Warren Republican: February 24, 1905

NAME: McCracken, Jacob C.

DATE OF DEATH: February 18, 1905