

OBITUARY

Claude V. Palmer

Claude V. Palmer, 71, of Hackettstown, died on July 24 at Hackettstown Community Hospital.

Born in North Adams, Mass., he had lived in Hackettstown since 1969, coming from Clifton.

He was the founder and president of Polytronics in Clifton, retiring many years ago, and was currently a self-employed antique dealer.

He was a World War II veteran, a member of the Independence Lodge 42 F & AM, a retired member of the Hackettstown Rescue Squad, and a member of the Fraternal Order of Police.

He is survived by his wife, Lillian, at home; a son, Bance

Palmer, of Wharton; three daughters Claudette Nieradka, Darlene Palmer, and Denise Palmer, all of Hackettstown; a brother, Clyde Palmer, Daytona, Fla., his mother Jessie Walker Palmer, of Daytona, Fla., and six grandchildren.

A private burial was held and the Cochran Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

The Star-Gazette: August 3, 1995

NAME: Claude V. Palmer

DATE OF DEATH: July 24, 1995