

Judith "Judy" Gail Pawlowicz
HACKETTSTOWN — Judith
"Judy" Gail Pawlowicz, 58, died Thursday, May 6, 2004, in her home.
Born on Aug. 23, 1945 in Irvington, she was a daughter of Marveline Todd Jacobus and the late Walter Jacobus.

She was an office professional with Hosking Livery Limousine Company in Hackettstown. Judith, also known as Judy, was a longtime resident of Hackettstown. She died surrounded by family and friends, after a brave battle with cancer. For those who knew her she will be remembered most for her sharp wit and unique sense of humor, which she retained to the very end.

In addition to her mother, she is survived by two daughters, Patti Graziano of Bushkill, Pa., and Sheri of Phillipsburg; and a grandson, Jack. While adored by many, there were those who made huge personal sacrifices in the name of love and friendship, Kimberly Koch, Joan Volkers, and Jane Smakowitz, God bless you all.

A sister, Joan Lark, died earlier.

A memorial service was held in the Cochran Funeral Home, Inc., Hackettstown. Burial was private.
